

UNIVERSITY OF HAWAI'I PRESS and
UH MĀNOA DEPARTMENT OF ETHNIC STUDIES present

Am I BLACK Enough for You?

A free public lecture by Aboriginal Australian writer

ANITA HEISS

Wednesday, September 10

7:00 to 9:00 p.m.

George Hall 227

University of Hawai'i at Mānoa

Writer and activist Anita Heiss is one of the leading Aboriginal Australians involved in a highly controversial legal case, in which she and others successfully charged a conservative newspaper columnist with breaching the Racial Discrimination Act when he called them “white Aboriginals” who chose to identify as Aboriginal only to further their careers. In Am I Black Enough for You?, Dr. Heiss, a well-known advocate for indigenous education, charts her story of growing up with an Aboriginal mother and Austrian father and explains the development of her activist consciousness.

EVENT COSPONSORS:

The CENTER FOR PACIFIC ISLAND STUDIES, the DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE, the DEPARTMENT OF ANTHROPOLOGY, and the CENTER FOR BIOGRAPHICAL RESEARCH

- The event is free and the general public is invited to attend.
- Evening parking on campus is $6.00. Free street parking may be available.
- Copies of the book will be available for purchase and signing.
- For more information, contact Carol Abe, UH Press at 956-8697, email: abec@hawaii.edu.